

Folk Literature of the Tzutujil Maya*

SANDRA L. ORELLANA

Contents:

- I. Introduction
- II. Ethnography and Narrative Reality
 - 1. Geography
 - 2. Flora and Fauna
 - 3. History of Santiago Atitlán
 - 4. The Modern Town
 - 5. Economy
 - 6. Political Structure
 - 7. Religious Structure
 - 8. World View
 - 9. Division of Labour
- III. Folktales
 - 1. The Little Bee and the Singing Dove
 - 2. A Dog and His Reflection
 - 3. The Lion and the Four Bulls
 - 4. A Cat and a Mouse
 - 5. A Turtle and a Rabbit
 - 6. An Owl and Some Doves
 - 7. The Cricket and the Ant
 - 8. The Coyote and the Rabbit
 - 9. A Tzutujil Legend
 - 10. The Old Woman with Nine Sons
 - 11. The Dog Who Cooked a Little Boy
 - 12. The Man Who Turned into a Buzzard
 - 13. A Buzzard Gives a Boy a Ride in the Air
 - 14. History of Atitlán
 - 15. The Origin of Lake Atitlán
 - 16. The Origin of the Bell of the Church and of the Lake
 - 17. The Bird with Two Heads
 - 18. The Origin of Maximón
 - 19. The Black Man of the Volcano
- IV. Topical Motif Index and Motif Distribution by Narrative
- V. Alphabetical Motif Index

* The author would like to express her thanks to Dr. JOHANNES WILBERT, Professor of Anthropology and Director of the Latin American Center at UCLA, for his advice and supervision of this work.