

Fig. 1: The kattadiya (demon specialist) asks, lying on the ground with dollapideni (special food for the demon) in a thatua (basket) on his body, the yakka (demon) to come. See also the surrogate victim (the life cock) and the frying of an egg in a human skull at his feet.

Fig. 2: The kattadiya is showing the pretha (a spirit of a greedy deceased relative) the affluent thatua with, e.g., a cup of tea, fish, and all kinds of vegetables inside.

Fig. 3: The athuraya (possessed person) looks a bit frightened, when the kattadiya comes near to him with his eegaha (powerful staff). In front four thatua with dollapideniya (special food for demons).