

PAGE

- 115 "Amiable disciplinary means," is Dr. Bunzel's phrase, Bunzel 3:846.
- 116 The quotations are from Bunzel 1:486; 497.
- 117 The quotation concerning Zuñi lack of resignation is from Bunzel 1:486.
The extracts from the ritual are found in Bunzel 2:784;646;807-08.

CHAPTER V

- 120 This chapter is based on the field study, The Sorcerers of Dobu, by Reo F. Fortune, New York, 1932. The present chapter can be only an abridgment of Dr. Fortune's full account and to facilitate consultation page references are given on special points.
- 126 For Dobuan totems, Fortune 30-36.
- 128 For the Manus marriage, see Mead, Margaret. Growing up in New Guinea. New York, 1930.
- 133 The quotation is from Fortune 16.
- 134 For the ritual of the garden, Fortune, 106-31.
- 138 The version given here is condensed. See Fortune 139-40.
- 140 For accounts of vada, see Fortune 158-64, and for comparative data, 284-87.
- 142 Malinowski, Bronislaw. Argonauts of the Western Pacific. London, 1922.
For the economic background of the Kula, Fortune 200-10.
- 146 Fortune 216-17.
- 148 For mourning observances at the death of a spouse, Fortune 11; 57; 194.
- 151 Fortune 11, for quotation.
- 151-152 Fortune 197-200.
- 153 Fortune 23, for statement of sullen suspicion in mourning exchange. Fortune 170.
- 154 For this behaviour toward yams, Fortune 222.
- 156 Fortune 78.
Fortune 85.
- 158 Fortune 109.

CHAPTER VI

- 160 The following is a selected bibliography on the Kwakiutl by Franz Boas:
1. The Social Organization and Secret Societies of the Kwakiutl Indians, Report of the U. S. National Museum for 1895, 311-738. Washington, 1897.