

SCHOOL OF ORIENTAL AND AFRICAN STUDIES

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON

London, W. C. I.

The School is a recognized School of the University of London. Instruction is given by modern methods in more than forty Oriental and African languages, including Arabic, Turkish, Persian, Hindustani, Marathi, Tamil, Telugu, Bengali, Chinese, Japanese, Swahili and Hansa. Courses are also held in the history and religions of Asia and Africa. Apart from the regular classes in languages, arrangements may be made for special courses to suit the convenience of persons proceeding abroad at short notice.

LIBRARY.

The Library of the School contains nearly 100 000 books and pamphlets and 1000 manuscripts. It is open not only to students of the School but also to scholars and other persons interested in Oriental and African Studies.

BULLETIN.

The Bulletin of the School of Oriental and African Studies, price 15/- per part, is issued normally about twice a year and is published by the School.

It contains contributions to the knowledge of Oriental and African Languages, Culture, History and Literature. Considerable space is devoted to reviews and notices of books on Oriental and African subjects.

All papers, &c., for which publication is sought should be sent to the Editor at the School.

Authors and publishers wishing to have books reviewed should send them to the Editor, to whom also applications for exchange of journals from learned societies or Editors of other periodicals may be made.

All particulars may be obtained from the Secretary.
